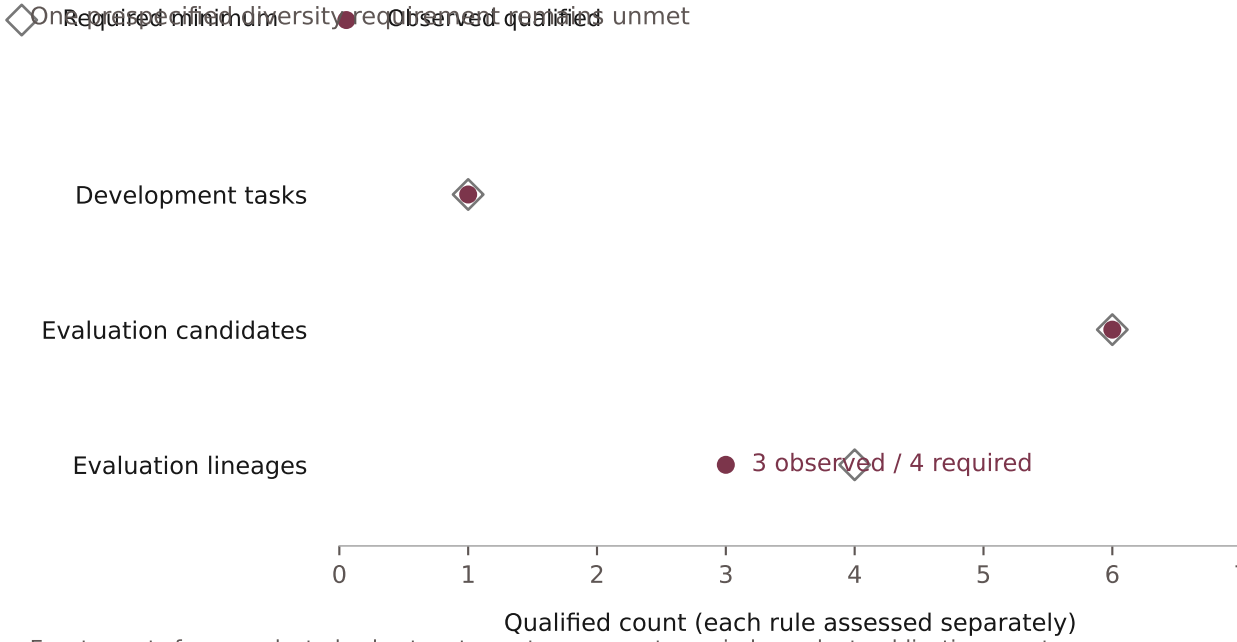
Native readiness stops before the agent comparison



Exact counts from a selected subset; not agent success rates or independent publication counts.